HomeGuard Crack is a computer activity management and surveillance application for Windows 7, Windows 8 and Windows 10, capable of monitoring multiple applications and a broad range of monitored activities. You are provided with a comprehensive overview of the allowed and blocked events. The events that were captured are displayed in a table with a record of the captured activity. Optimization for the Professional: HomeGuard Cracked Version can be used to restrict access for a maximum of up to 20 activities or applications running at the same time. This has been made possible by using process-monitoring technology. If you have a need for this number of activities/applications to be monitored, HomeGuard Cracked Accounts is perfectly designed for you. The application's interface is very intuitive and allows you to quickly start restricting the access to your computer. HomeGuard Features: Permanent restrictions The application can be configured to allow or block each of the monitored applications for the duration of time you set. The application displays a total number of those hours spent on each application. Users can decide what time interval they want to configure and the application will automatically modify the time interval. Restrictions can be set as allowed to run and then temporarily disabled. The duration can also be limited, allowing the computer to be used for an agreed amount of time. Restrictions can be automatically withdrawn if no activity was logged. A scheduled restart is also possible. System Requirements: HomeGuard requires a computer with a screen resolution above 1024x768. Harmful applications for kids or parents The application's settings allows you to identify whether the harmful application should be blocked permanently or only for a certain amount of time. The settings for this are defined in an interval that can be limited in time. If your browser, for example, is constantly displaying inappropriate content and is not managed with the same frequency as pornographic images and explicit music, then the potentially harmful application can be temporarily blocked. Compatible with any Internet browser You can use HomeGuard with any browser, such as Chrome, Firefox or Internet Explorer. The application's settings can be applied to any of these browsers. Internet Explorer You can see the global HomeGuard settings by clicking on Home » Internet Explorer. In this section, you can see the applications and files that can be run or accessed through Internet Explorer. You can also adjust the settings to display web pages, code or links containing images of a potentially harmful nature. HomeGuard can also block Internet Explorer. With this in mind, you 09e8f5149f
