CubeBackup is a desktop application designed to help you secure the data stored with Google Apps. The software is simple to use and allows you to protect the data stored online by creating a backup in a local folder. The backups are made automatically, daily, by a custom schedule and include emails, contacts or calendars. With CubeBackup, you can have an updated data backup at hand, at any time, thus avoid the risk brought by the possibility of power outages, account breakin or human error.

CubeBackup can create daily, incremental backups of all the data created and stored with the Google Apps. All you need to do is create a daily schedule and let the software run it in due time. This way, you can be assured that the files stored on your computer contain the updated information. The software uses incremental backup algorithms to ensure that only the modified data is downloaded. If you wish your data restored to the Cloud, you can do so with one mouse click. Additionally, you can use the powerful search engine in order to identify and manually restore individual files, emails, contacts or calendars. CubeBackup requires high levels of clearing into your Google Apps domain in order to gain access to all the data stored on your Cloud, which is why upon the initial
