We make our living by streaming video and websites from our mobile devices and they come with all of the features that we desire, right? Wrong! There is not a way to get these features other than logging off and logging back on or staying on the home screen. Alarm Clock Button is a new app that hopes to change that. The app is available right now for free and is a one-stop button that can control any number of apps, including your alarm clock, contacts, notes, sleep timer, phone app, music and much more. When you download the app, you will have to set it up and you can do so in just a few steps. The first thing you need to do is connect your device to the internet and open your web browser. Then, just download the Alarm Clock Button app from the Google Play or from the Apple Store. Next, you should open the app and hit the "Add Alarm" button. Then, you have to select the alarm you want to use and choose which app you want the alarm to be automatically turned on. When you want to turn the alarm off, just hit the switch in the bottom right side. The app features a timer, which can be useful to wake you up in the morning. The timer feature lets you set up a wake-up time, which, depending on your sleep schedule, can be a little tricky. Sleep timer If you want to use the sleep timer, you will want to set up an alarm of some sort and use the apps for that. Then, just use the feature and set it as you please. It's safe to say that there isn't an easier way to organize your alarms, especially when it comes to automatically turning them on. Contacts This app lets you create a variety of contacts, which is quite important to organizing your email. When you click the "My Contacts" button, you will have to give your contacts a name](#)
