With the departure of Sen. Carl Levin, the vast majority of the work of the Senate Judiciary Committee could be referred to a Special Counsel. While I wasn't on the committee, I know Levin's work was much appreciated by Democrats and Republicans alike.

Levin went on to chair the Senate Armed Services Committee and will undoubtedly continue to exert his influence from that position as well. Senator Frank Lautenberg (D-NJ) has finally taken a stand in regard to GOP obstructionism. Lautenberg filed an amendment to the Aviation bill with help from Sen. Patty Murray (D-WA) and others that would require the TSA to consider e-Verify – a service offered by the U.S. Department of Labor that allows employers to verify job applicants' work eligibility through a simple online system. You can read the full details here or just jump to the download links below for the first four (of five) mobile Kit updates! Features The main focus of this Kit is to make mobile development easier and improve my workflows. This is the fifth and final Kit in the series (the others are for mobile platforms Android and iPhone, the desktop platform is still in development and is called "Desktop Kit") and it's an amalgamation of all the new workflows and features introduced in the previous Kit updates. There are a lot of new features in this Kit to make mobile development easier. Let's review the main ones below: .idev file Building the mobile apps is so much easier. You only need to build the .idev file, not the binary, and you only need to upload the .idev to iTunes Connect (or Google Play). All the core functionality of the .idev file is in my Mobile Kit library so you don't have to reinvent the wheel. If you want, you can even use it for desktop development, just switch the .app file extension to .pbx! Supply Asset Catalog You can now download and upload a new .assetcatalog from anywhere on your computer and use it to create your own assets catalogs for your mobile apps. This is great to streamline assets management between the different workflows. For example, if you are using Xamarin you can now create a "Scenes" folder, that has all the assets for all the locations on your iOS and Android devices, not only for your iPad and iPhone. Also, all assets are cached for offline use, so if you are editing images and then build your app with a new version of the catalog, you don't need to redownload them!
