I'm running into an issue where if I have some graphics on top of the map, it makes everything visible in the map and I can't have that. I can't just bring the map view to the back because the map is part of the view controller, and I'm not sure how to do a view controller without a window. Any ideas? Thanks. A: If you have a ViewController that contains a MKMapView, the easiest way is probably to override its -viewWillAppear: method and use its -(void)viewWillAppear:(BOOL)animated function. You could have it zoom to the MKMapView's current region, but you may want to make it more dynamic. Alternatively, in the same ViewController, you could override the UIWindow's -setHidden:animated: method and set the mapview's -isHidden property to NO if you don't want to show the map view, or YES if you do. How can we help?
