AutoCAD features include 2D and 3D drafting, 2D and 3D modeling, and 2D and 3D printing. The software includes 2D drafting tools that support both the Windows and Macintosh platforms. AutoCAD does not support Windows Mobile or Windows RT devices. AutoCAD 2016 was released on October 12, 2016. The new release supports Windows 10, macOS High Sierra, and Linux Mint 17.3. Contents AutoCAD is a comprehensive 2D drafting and 3D modelling application. It includes features for importing and exporting CAD files, viewing and editing various types of drawings, using vector tools to modify, create, and combine elements, and producing technical drawings from designs using a variety of style templates. Additional features include the ability to import and export to the AutoCAD DWG format for use in the PostScript Vector Drawing Language (PVRL) application, and produce pdf/ps files. The DWG import and export features are available for several file formats, including Adobe Illustrator (.ai,.eps,.jpg,.pdf,.ps,.svg,.tif,.tiff,.xcf) and Microsoft Visio (.vtx,.vdi). There are also Autodesk Certified Instructor (ACI) and Autodesk Certified Design Associate (ACDA) courses that include AutoCAD (with the ACI courses being generally available and ACDA being available for Autodesk professional users). The ACDA and ACI courses also cover other Autodesk products, such as Inventor and AutoCAD LT (a discontinued 2D drafting program). Autodesk offers two annual subscription plans for AutoCAD. Q: Creating single database entry based on dropdown value I am trying to create a single form based off of multiple dropdowns which will allow an admin to create a form with a custom report, and pass that report into a database. Currently I have multiple dropdowns which appear, and the user selects the dropdown value. The user then enters form, then the user selects report, which is passed into a database, and the email is sent to the user. The problem I am having is that I need to be able to create a single database entry based on the dropdown values. For example: Dropdown 1 = Account Dropdown 2 = Client If Account is selected and Client is selected, then a new record for both Account and Client should be created in the database. I am using C# / SQL Server. A: A primary key should be a composite of both fields in the table, and be unique. Then, you can

There's no doubt that the Republican Party has a huge problem with women – there are just too many in the female population who aren't going to vote for a party that has fought to allow and even celebrate the “right” of women to have access to their own body parts, for the legalisation of torture and rendition, for unfettered access to taxpayer-funded abortion and for the killing of newborn babies. All of these things are bad. All of these things have come at the cost of women's rights – but most of all, Republican policy and politics has seen women as mothers and partners who are there to support their men at every step, whether they can or not. We have a new survey out today from Findings Data Services that shows just how out of touch the Republican Party is with female voters. And it
