Spin-1/Spin-1 exchange reactions are considered, where the one-electron-exchange with a cation and anion cannot be described by the spin-admixture (SA) scheme and has to be treated by the spin-1 approach. The exchange is in between a multiplet containing 12 spin-1/spin-1 states, all on the same energy surface, and a set of perturbed spin-1/spin-1 states. The corresponding quantum-classical path integral scheme is developed for the evaluation of the exchange integral via a determinantal integral. It is of Kramers type and can be reduced to the Fermi's golden rule when the two spin-states involved are nearly degenerate. It is based on a set of classical paths corresponding to the perturbed set of transition states. The exchange is written as the sum of two contributions. The first one is proportional to the Kramers' doublet weight, the second one is an integral over the degenerate states. The main difficulty, besides the presence of degenerate states, is the large number of classical paths necessary. We also present some simulations of exchange reactions on the basis of the nonlinear response of the classical paths and perform the exchange reaction of Fe<sup>2+</sup> to Fe<sup>3+</sup> on the S 3 (-)(spd) state.
