Keymacro is a mac application that lets you run full screen Mac applications that are hidden with Window > Hide Others. When you run an application using Keymacro, Mac OS X simulates that you are looking at the application from that window. Running an application full screen is very useful for testing and development because you don't have to restart your computer or your server. It also lets you use a Mac application with other applications on the screen at the same time. If you think that this app is really worth downloading, please leave a comment or rate it. How to use: -Run Keymacro, the icon should appear on your dock. -Open an application you want to run full screen. When it opens, drag the icon of the application over the image in the center. -When you release the mouse button, the application will run full screen. Note: There may be a 1-2 seconds delay between you moving the mouse cursor over the image and the application launching. This may vary depending on your processor speed. If the software doesn't work, try pressing and holding the shift key when starting the program. If you encounter any bugs or problems, please send us a feedback. As for technical support, you can send us feedbacks or issues through a feedback form or email. Keymacro does not provide support for free. Or, is it always going to stick to the main window? --- jgifford It doesn't necessarily, but I think you can remove the show current time checkbox so that it doesn't display. It's the first icon when you launch the app. --- 0x0 I checked it out and it doesn't show up in the app's interface at all, so I](#)
