It is easy to install and leaves a small footprint on the computer. Users can access its features by right-clicking on a document. The application automatically detects the file type and provides users the corresponding options. Users can convert TXT files only to PDF files, but when they wish to convert a PDF file, the application offers a lot more options. Cometdocs allows users to convert to Word, Excel, PowerPoint, AutoCad, webpages and several popular image formats. Use Cometdocs' online engine to minimize the computer's resource usage. The program provides a powerful online engine to perform all conversions. The entire process (upload, convert and download) is done automatically. The converted file is downloaded in same folder as the source file and the entire process is fast. It can easily compete with installed converting engines. The application supports OCR conversions and allows users to prioritize their conversions. It also provides conversion options for cloud files and creates a transfer link, so users can share their files with just a few clicks. Track the status of the conversion process for your documents. Cometdocs provides an activity log, enabling users to overview the status of their documents. If the document is not converted, a reason is displayed in the corresponding column. The application does not support corrupted or password protected files. Moreover, some file formats
