Takelings House Party is a local multiplayer party game designed to look and feel like a traditional couch party game, but play like VR. Up to 8 gamers will play at the same time in virtual reality. It can be played on a single couch or multiple couches. We use controllers with a *VR extension and an app to communicate and control your game. user review 1 star 11 4 stars 4 3 stars 8 2 stars 3 1 star 3 Best, i am tired of couch party on the internet, that's why i made this game. Overall a decent game on non-vive. It's a little unfriendly and a little difficult to get into. But when you do you'll be in for a treat! But this game got me thinking - if I had to play this on ps4 and I had to play multiplayer at the same time, I'm afraid I would actually find it difficult to play if I had a fight with some of the other players. My overall rating: 75/100 Whether you're looking for a single player game for your next party game...or a multiplayer co-op 3D couch party game...this is your best option. user review 1 star 20 4 stars 16 3 stars 17 2 stars 5 1 star 2 Best, i am tired of couch party on the internet, that's why i made this game. Click on the base object to roll the sphere around the world. This has special properties for the selected block type.

Pick a style for your levels, and purchase a customised theme from the store - available for a limited time only.

Control the game pretty much entirely from within the developer's toolkit. To activate the effects in the game, right click on the base object to run. Cause the wall to fall or to drop. Place walls and building blocks. Rotate the globe and rotate the camera.

Saving your levels creates your own shared stack of plots. These plots are the perfect starting point for a new game.

Many more of these features to come - many more!

Be a part of the development process for this game and play the development builds. To enable development versions of the levels you need to create your own instance of the Solium site. For this version there are two ways:

- Using the testing and development panel of the Solium site, or
- Create a new website and add Solium to it. And test every build of Solium on it!

Set in the 1970s, In In this game you must clear 20 obstacle courses of grey cubes. Every time you clear a course, the timer slows down and gets harder. Be quick, and you'll be fine. But be slow, and you're toast. You have infinite lives, and each round you can collect power ups. Power ups such as more lives, an extra swing, and being able to collect invisible cubes to the right side of the screen. Grey Cubes is a "found-fans-of-minigolf"-genre game, making it a perfect summer time-slot for a number of reasons. First of all, you can play it with a golf club or a golf ball. Second, you can control the pace, as the final round will only last as long as you take your time. And third, you can use a rubber ball. Also, grey cubes are falling from the sky. So, you know, there's that too. Play with a friend. -Most levels play in portrait mode so you can see your friend's head when controlling him. -Local multiplayer. -40 levels. -32 days of games. -45 hours of fun. What's new:

I've been working on bugs for about two weeks, but I completed a large part of the bug fixes in the last two days. This weekend was also a testing week for the support guild — True Parents Foundation. The foundation was tested for various features and capabilities. Those who are dedicated to the development of content are always thinking about ways to improve the game and make it more fun, so they're always looking for ways to test their systems. As I described in the previous post, the foundation primarily focuses on multiplayer. This week, they tested various functions and quality settings on the NEU's server — PM2012. We also accepted a request for MMR on an NEU server — PEM, but that didn't work very well. So we have decided to ask for LK MMR through MMR Central. So we will be doing more tests there. Recently, we transferred the PvP server's graphics into the NEU's server. This week, we updated the NEU's server graphics while we were developing the last part of NEU. There is also a reason we haven't released important updates for NEU; Since December, 2013, we have been constantly working on the NEU's server. Within that period, there has been a lot of bug-fixing done to fix newer challenges. Before the bug fixes were done, we can confirm that the NEU's server was fine. I have just recently uploaded four new skins: the "Silky Snowman", the "Beauty Casino", the "Military Brocade", and the "Puffy Leopard". As a result, we will need to update a few skins and their graphics. I've spent a lot of time to collect and clean the server data. I think that we have achieved a reliable NEU's server. Since January, this has become the Developer War LK because those who call themselves Serverside were keeping their pages in the subdomain. On the NEU's server, we know our difficulties, so we have allowed guilds to directly own pages for Offline Realms (OORs). Now that we are in the developer war, we'll have to change NEU's website graphics in order to differentiate the two. We'll do
