[Surgical treatment of pleomorphic adenoma of the parotid]. Pleomorphic adenoma of the parotid is the most frequent neoplasm of the salivary glands. Tumors of this kind are usually located in the superficial parotid region. They are usually benign, but in rare cases malignant transformation can occur. The aim of the present study was to assess the therapeutic strategy in patients with pleomorphic adenomas of the parotid. From the year 1991 to 2004, a total of 14 patients with pleomorphic adenomas of the parotid were admitted to our hospital. According to the classification of Enneking and Dandoloff (1999), two tumors, one with bone d0c515b9f4
