If you are not comfortable with running. Temporal processing of hemodynamic stimuli: comparison of functional and structural changes in the human brain. To quantify functional and structural aspects of temporal processing, we applied the time course of hemodynamic responses evoked by the visual stimulus "a changing green checkerboard" on a small area of the visual cortex. In adult subjects, functional experiments were performed with functional magnetic resonance imaging (fMRI). In adolescents, both the functional and the structural MRI (sMRI) studies were performed. The results of these studies suggest that both the neural and vascular architecture of temporal processing in the brain are established, at least, during the second decade of life.

Q: How to iterate through a string which consists of another string's elements? For example I have a string, say it consists of three elements, "A-B-C". I want to get the elements of A-B-C, A, B, C. And a function $f(A-B-C) = (A,B,C)$. If it has 4 elements, the output should be (A, B, C, D), and so on. Is there a function to do it, or do I have to loop through it twice?

P.S: The list has some characters whose position is not important.

A: You should use for loops:

def outer_loop(values):
    i = 0
    for char in values:
        yield char
        i += 1
def inner_loop(values):
    for char in values:
        yield char
for val in outer_loop('A-B-C'):
    for val in inner_loop(val):
