AFTERGLOW main project is the development of a FPS in a future of 30 years after the Earth's climate destabilization. We offer a perfect atmospheric graphics, an extensive editing of the rules of shooting and realistic physics. Game Abilities: Huge maps of the territory of 12 square kilometers. The game is open, non-linear. The player can move as they wish, find the optimum strategy for him, choose his point of view and freely develop his character. Game contents: In the game there is no points system. All you do is earn experience points which you can spend in the course of the game to unlock different abilities of your character. You also obtain items of the world economy. Based on player's choice, in the game there are 4 different development paths. BROTHERS IN ASIA. In the game you are in a world of 30 years after the climatic crisis, which caused the destruction of the cities in the Western part of the planet. The atmosphere is completely polluted. The environment is hostile, the cities have lost all their inhabitants. Underground and underwater cities were built, where there are a lot of criminal organizations, gangs and the remnants of criminal brigades. During the first years of re-population after the disaster, people found out that the evacuation of the cities to a safe place isn't possible. The reason for that is the loss of the atmosphere, with the result of its complete pollution. The mass use of coverings ceased to be effective. Places that were previously covered by a certain atmosphere have lost it. This leads to the fact that in the settlements of the underground cities there is no air. Since the clean air has already been lost, the cities have to be supplied with it by ventilation systems. Air is pumped to supply the buildings, and the fresh air is created from the recycled air. The ventilation systems were put in place in areas that have had no air for the longest period of time, as the areas below the street level, but now the city is at a safe place. The work of ventilation systems is carried out by the penal Brigades of the underground cities. The penal brigades are formed by the best soldiers of the underworld, the most experienced and the best fighters. The penal brigades consisted of 5 guards, a commander and a leader. The leader of the penal brigade is always a criminal, a criminal with a criminal title. The criminal has another designation in the game, but not in real
