What's new in The Secret Monster Society Soundtrack:

_ (1981), _ Little Rock, Coming Apart_ (1979), with cinematography by the French director Jef Moreau, and _The Sailor Who Fell from Grace with the Sea_ (1999), Moroder's first film in eleven years, based on the writer's self-destructive behavior in the years that followed the death of his wife and daughter. San Francisco filmmaker Alexander Payne adapted Hermann Sudermann's romantic novel _Andrea's Line_ (1999), the story of a German cousin who returns to Berlin after the Second World War where she tries to establish herself as a songwriter. The film is dedicated to Lloyd Richards, Bebe Buell, and Miles Copeland "as they were, as I honor them now." Moroder won a Silver Bear at the Berlin International Film Festival for his cameo appearance. Moroder and François de Conciner, his partner throughout the seventies and eighties, revealed that their times with Miles had been the last of their collaboration, "There was nothing left, we finished them. We couldn't work anymore." It was de Conciner who had persuaded him to publish a picture book containing the photographs of the eighties. The same de Conciner who would later work with Moroder on Turin Olympics promo, among other projects. Even Maurizio Sadr, in his obituary of Moroder entitled "Alive and Well," leaves little room for doubt as to the "immortal status" Moroder enjoys and his "unparalleled" collaboration with Miles Davis and Freddie Mercury, in which "the music and the words are fused in a most personal and creative collaboration." As for Vangelis, he was being awarded the Commander of the Legion of Honor on the occasion of his sixtieth birthday on April 6, 1997 and accepted the award in Paris while taking a call from the Institut Gutenberg, an "intervention center" whose admission derives from the German states in southern France where a fair amount of the medieval textual wealth was preserved. His acceptance speech was taped and sent to Lord Parker (lord chancellor,

In fact, Vangelis has an enormous knowledge of that era: a complete armada of books and CDs, from Auber to Wagner and Tchaikovsky are spread out in every corner of his office. The Princess of Wales invited him to an anniversary dinner, and the director wishes he had given her something else instead of a pair of handcuffs.
