La mise en accusation de "délits de corruption" à l'encontre de la ministre de la Justice, Christiane Taubira, n'est pas vraiment nouvelle. Mais ça ne passe pas du côté du parquet national financier (PNF), c'est-à-dire le juge qui a bien du mal à faire appeler la police. C'est un acharnement qui dépasse le seuil critique. Mme Taubira dit "non" au chef de police En 2009, le directeur de la police judiciaire Philippe Courtenay avait entamé des poursuites en référé devant le tribunal correctionnel contre Christiane Taubira et plusieurs autres personnes présentes lors de manifestations anti-loi Taubira qui auraient porté des dessins représentant le chef de police. C'est en vain que le parquet a requis son incarcération, tout à la fois par une interdiction de détenir des armes et des faux aléas (on ne peut pas dire "tir avec arme").
