The software uses graphics resources such as bitmap, icon, and text fonts to display content to the user. This information is displayed on the screen by using the programming language known as GUI. One common type of GUI is the graphical user interface (GUI). If you are a programmer, you may have used a GUI to work with the software. The graphical user interface was made popular by Microsoft Windows. The GUI provides quick and easy access to the functions and data in the software. The GUI also provides different types of toolbars that allow you to control the functions of the software. This will reduce your learning curve when using the software. Software users usually need to modify the program before it can run. This is done using the software customization feature in order to introduce changes to the program. The customization feature allows the user to change specific features in the software. This helps improve the overall effectiveness of the program. A software developer will make the user or customer feel important by giving them a license key. This allows the user to use the program more than once. i want to make a tetris game in android..how can i build an android app that is similar to tetris in its moves,gravity,..
