A: This is not a programming problem, but a configuration problem. If you go to the Tools menu and select Options, then Protocols, under the "Connection" heading, you can uncheck the option "Automatically detect my proxy settings". You must use a proxy server to download utorrent. If you use your browser to download a file from utorrent, it will create a.torrent file. The.torrent file is the file that you have to download if you wish to use utorrent for your downloads. There are several types of proxy servers. Your ISP probably offers a proxy server for you to use if you wish to "surf the web". A proxy server allows you to create an "anonymous" session on the web. Because the connection is made via the proxy server you do not have a direct connection to the server. That way if the site is being scanned by a malicious person they will not know where the "anonymous" session is coming from. For example, if a company was trying to steal your credit card information they might try to monitor your internet activity. However if there was a proxy server between your computer and the internet, nobody would be able to determine your internet activity. A proxy server is basically a web server that can be accessed using the web browser. The proxy server will receive the web request and your browser will make a connection to the proxy server. The proxy server can then be accessed by anybody to pull down a web page. You as the user have no direct connection to the proxy server. There are several things that a proxy server can do. For example: Blacklist terms, such as "admin". If the site is being viewed by a user with a term in the blacklist it will not be requested via the proxy server. Opt out of categories, such as Flash. This is done so that "unknown" sites can't use Flash. So, if utorrent needs to use flash, it would simply have to load Flash from the utorrent application. Connect to just one site and not all of the sites on the web. If you are dealing with spam email that comes from a lot of different sites, you don't want to automatically get all of your spam sent to your computer. You just want the one site that the spam is coming from. Use encryption to encrypt data that is sent to the proxy server. This way if someone is watching your internet activity, they will not have
